ASX Announcement

Classic Advances Strategic Review with Initial Funding Initiative

Highlights

- AFDC commences strategic review of Classic’s asset portfolio.
- Initial funding of A$3 million to be raised to fund exploration activities and support relisting.

Classic Minerals Limited (ASX: CLZ) (“Classic” or “Company”) advises that following the appointment of Australian Finance & Development Corporation Pty Ltd (“AFDC”) as corporate adviser on 5 March 2026, AFDC has commenced its strategic review of the Company’s asset portfolio and future development opportunities.

As part of this process, AFDC will seek to raise A$3 million in initial funding to support the Company’s near-term corporate and exploration initiatives while the broader strategic review progresses.

The initial funding initiative represents the first stage of AFDC’s strategic evaluation of Classic and potential funding pathways to support advancement of the Company’s projects.

Use of Funds

Funds raised are intended to enable Classic to:

- Advance exploration drilling programs at the Lady Ada and Lady Magdalene deposits, located within Classic’s Forrestania tenure;
- Progress the Company’s application for relisting of its shares on the ASX, including satisfying associated compliance and corporate requirements; and
- Continue evaluation of additional high-priority exploration targets across the Company’s Forrestania project area.

Executive Chairman Commentary

Classic Minerals Executive Chairman Mr John Lester said:

“The commencement of AFDC’s strategic review represents an important step for Classic as we position the Company for relisting and the next phase of development across our Forrestania assets. The proposed initial funding initiative will provide the working capital required to progress key corporate and exploration programs while AFDC continues evaluating broader strategic opportunities for the Company.”

Strategic Context

The proposed funding initiative is expected to provide Classic with near-term working capital to progress its corporate and exploration initiatives while AFDC continues its broader strategic evaluation of the Company's asset portfolio and funding pathways.

As part of this process, AFDC will also evaluate potential structures capable of supporting the future development of Classic's processing infrastructure and exploration assets as the Company advances toward relisting and renewed operational activity.

Classic's Forrestania landholding hosts a number of highly prospective gold targets, including the Lady Ada and Lady Magdalene deposits, located within a well-established gold-producing district of Western Australia.

Australian Finance & Development Corporation
